POKING FUN: ANIMALS IN CLAY

Chandra DeBuse & Tommy Frank

Tommy and Chandra both use animal imagery to create playful narratives in their functional ceramic forms. In this one-day demonstration workshop, the artists will demonstrate their individual approaches to hand-building and wheel-throwing. Tommy will demonstrate silicone press molding and altering. Chandra will work with soft clay slabs in conjunction with plywood drop molds and bisque hump molds. Both artists will address their unique approaches to surface with Tommy using texture and oxide washes to enhance his sculptural forms and Chandra using underglaze inlay, sgraffito and brushwork to create her imagery.

Tommy Frank and Chandra DeBuse both live and work in Kansas City, Missouri. Tommy is the Studio Manager at Belger Crane Yard Studios, where he maintains his own studio practice. Chandra is a full-time studio potter and founding member of Kansas City Urban Potters. Chandra's spirit animal is the squirrel and Tommy's relationship with pigs is ... complicated.

BEGINNING DRAWING

Donna Webb

Artists are "see-ers." They literally see the world around them in a different way than the rest of us. Yet, all of us have the ability to be "see-ers." To learn how to draw, we must first learn to "look" without preconceptions. We will practice this artist's way of looking and drawing from observation, and experiment with a number of drawing techniques that have been used by artists over the centuries. This class is geared toward beginners, but is suitable for those who wish to refresh their drawing skills or just need a class or assignment to get them going. *This class meets at the Edina Senior Center, 5280 Grandview Square. INTRO TO OBSERVING NATURE LIKE AN ARTIST

Jake Posey NEW INSTRUCTOR!

NEW Though vastly different in subject matter, the approach to representing a still-life, portrait or landscape in paint follows the same basic principles. It is not about what one is painting; rather, how one uses the visual information provided. During Jake Posey's training in the Atelier manner, he learned a method for translating the three-dimensional world around him onto a flat surface using paint. Learning to recreate natural effects, explore conceptual form and set technical relationships simplifies the process of painting. Students will begin by using still-life setups as a playground in which to learn these basic observational properties. Oil paints are encouraged, but other mediums are acceptable. All levels are welcome. Maximum 10.

LOFT AROUND TOWN ENCOUNTERS WITH ART: A PROSE WRITING CLASS

Margaret Todd Maitland

Writing in response to art is an ancient and lively tradition. Emphasis, as it is known, has been practiced by poets since the ancient Greeks. But why should poets have all the fun? In this class, you will craft short pieces of creative prose (memoir, essay and creative nonfiction) based on an encounter with art. You will learn five strategies for initiating an imaginative and meaningful involvement with artworks - from dialoguing with a painting, sculpture or photograph to exploring how it speaks to your life.

The class will include in-class writing assignments to generate new work; discussion of readings from Mark Doty,

Terry Tempest Williams and Siri Hustvedt, among others; group feedback on your work; and individual critiques from the teaching artist. What's radical about this course? You don't have to be an expert in art history to forge a dynamic relationship with art. This course is open to all writing levels.

8520: Wednesdays, 10 a.m.-noon, 6 weeks - starts April 13, ends May 18

Cost: Please call the Loft at 612-215-2575 for pricing and to register. This is a Loft Around Town writing class held at the Edina Art Center.
